

TAC LEADER

What Honor Requires

By
Bob Anderson, Ph.D.

A story of ordinary people, doing extraordinary things.

First in the Tac Leader Trilogy

Tac Leader: What Honor Requires

by
Bob Anderson, Ph.D.
CMSgt. USAFR

?????

AuthorHouse and Bob Anderson of Back to Basics International proudly announce the debut of a new action/adventure novel, Tac Leader: What Honor Requires, the first in the Tac Leader Trilogy. Tac Leader: What Honor Requires combines modern military tactics and equipment, with a psychological analysis of crime and sexual deviance. This book demonstrates that ordinary people can, and do, accomplish extraordinary things.

About the Book:

Doc Roberts and his friend Gonzo set out on a search for gold and lost treasure in the Mexican Desert. They head out on horse back with Gonzo's latest invention Merlin, their secret weapon for finding gold. Instead of finding gold, they find trouble. They know something is out of kilter when they encounter a strange resort in the middle of the Mexican desert. Their suspicion is confirmed, as they find murder, rape and perversion at a level neither had seen before.

Knowing that lives are at stake and that time is of the essence, Doc and Gonzo take matters into their own hands. They adapt and overcome. Using their military experience, they plan the mission and create a tactical team, with Doc – the Tac Leader.

About the Author:

Bob has over 30 years of military service and currently holds the rank of Chief Master Sergeant, and serves as the 917th Security Force Manager, U.S. Air Force Reserve, Barksdale AFB.

He commanded an Air Force Counterterrorism Team and has held the distinguished positions of both First Sergeant and Command Chief Master Sergeant. He's a qualified rappel master, assistant SCUBA instructor and holds a 2nd degree black belt in Shorin-Ryu karate.

He holds Ph.D.s in Human Resource Management and Safety Management as well as a Masters Degree in Police Science and a Bachelors Degree in Social Psychology.

Bob Anderson and his wife Pamela Anderson reside in Humble, Texas. Bob is founder and president of Back to Basics International, a professional speaking and training organization. He's a speaker on various topics including leadership, management, motivation, communication and counterterrorism.

Bob just published his second Book, Back to Basics for Finding Sanity in an Insane World, a "Back To Basics" philosophy for improving life skills and creating a more fulfilling and sane lifestyle. It was just released published in December 2004, AuthorHouse Publishing. He expects to have two more books published in 2005.

Book Signing Event

Date:

Time:

Location:

Contact: